

Co-sponsored by: The Judaic Studies Program and PARC

Project on Democracy in the Middle East

Elections in Israel: Implications for the Jewish State and the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict

Speakers:

Miriam F. Elman

Associate Professor, Department of Political Science and Faculty Research Associate
Program on the Analysis and Resolution of Conflicts, Syracuse University

Ken Frieden

Professor of English, Religion, and Languages, Literatures and Linguistics
B.G. Rudolph Chair in Judaic Studies and Director of the Judaic Studies Program
Syracuse University

Ronnie Olesker

Assistant Professor
Department of Government, St. Lawrence University

Moderated by:

Sevgi Saran

M.A. Candidate in International Relations and Research Assistant
Project on Democracy in the Middle East, Syracuse University

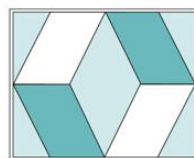

Lunch will be served.

February 13, 2009

12:00 pm

220 Eggers Hall (PE Room)

Middle Eastern
Studies Program
SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

P • A • R • C

MOYNIHAN
MAXWELL SCHOOL
SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY
INSTITUTE OF GLOBAL AFFAIRS